RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP FOR 2017

Geochemical Society (GS) members can renew quickly and securely on the GS website: www.geochemsoc.org. Renew by 15 January 2017 to save $5 off the regular dues and enjoy uninterrupted access to Elements, Geochemical News, and registration discounts to Goldschmidt2017 and other conferences. Members also have access to the online member directory (available by signing into your profile on the website). You can also choose a 2-year membership option to save time and money. If you prefer to renew by mail, please visit the website to download a form to send with your payment.

2017 Dues Rates	Early (by 15 January 2017)	Regular
Professional	$30	$35
Senior	$15	$20
Student	$10	$15

The society also offers a Life Member option that eliminates the need to renew every year. The current life membership rate is 70 minus your current age times $35 USD, with a minimum rate of $175. Contact the business office at gsoffice@geochemsoc.org for more information on upgrading your membership to this convenient option.

GEOCHEMISTRY EVENTS CALENDAR

The GS shares information about conferences, workshops, and short courses on topics related to geochemistry through our website (www.geochemsoc.org/news/conferencelinks). If you would like to share information about your event, please send it to gsoffice@geochemsoc.org with the following details: dates, title, website address, location, and abstract/registration deadlines. While there is no charge for this service, the society reserves the right to review submissions for relevancy to GS members before posting.

KEEP YOUR PROFILE CURRENT

Have you recently moved or changed your email address? Keeping you GS member profile current allows us to send Elements and Geochemical News to the right place every time. Updating your contact information is easy: just visit www.geochemsoc.org/contact and click the link to access your online member profile. You can also email the business office with updates or corrections at any time.
