MINERALOGY
PART-TIME APPOINTMENT
FALL 2010

The Department of Geology at Tufts University is accepting applications for a part-time faculty appointment to teach an entry-level undergraduate course in mineralogy for the Fall semester of 2010. Applicants should have a Ph.D. degree or pending Ph.D. in the geological sciences or a related discipline. Letters of application should be accompanied by transcripts and a CV, and applicants should have the names and contact information for three references sent to: Prof. Anne F. Gardulski, Department of Geology, Lane Hall, Tufts University, Medford, MA 02155. Review of applications will begin May 15, 2010 and will continue until the position is filled. Tufts University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. We are committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Members of underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply.
